MASON COUNTY COURT.

Yesterday in the Mason County Court it was ordered that the petition of the assignee of the Frank Owens Hardware Company, which had been produced in court, be filed. In the petition the Equitable Trust Company of Dover, as assignee, prayed the court to order a sale of the stock of goods of said corporation in bulk at an early date, and to decide whether or not in the meantime the assignee shall keep the store open and sell goods, as indicated in the petition, or whether it is more expedient to close the store until the day of sale in bulk, and for such other authority and directions in the conduct of the affairs of said trust estate as to the court might seem equitable and just.

County Judge W. H. Rice ordered that, as it was to the best interest of the assigned estate that all the personal estate assigned by said hardware company remaining at that time unsold shall be sold at public auction on the premises now occupied by said hardware company on West Second street on Saturday, April 10, at about the hour of 2 p. m., to the highest and best bidder all the personal property belonging to the aforesaid company. In the meanwhile the assignee is directed to open the store and to conduct a sale of the stock in the ordinary retail way until April 10, 1915.

The inventory and appraisement of the personal estate of said company was produced in court, filed and ordered to be recorded. C. B. Hollstein, H. H. Barkley and Henry J. Shea, appraisers, reported that they had appraised the estate and found stock to the value of $4,998.08.

The schedule of the assignment has not yet been filed.

DIFFERENT BRANDS OF WINTER.

(Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.) Grounding winter expires by limitation next Monday. Then comes old cow winter, redbud winter, dogwood winter, and blackberry winter. There are a few other brands, perhaps, but these are the standbys.

HERE AND THERE

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going on a "sit, please drop us a not a that effect.

Foreman William McKellup of the Augusta Chronicle was a visitor to Maysville yesterday and called on The Public Ledger.

Mr. L. N. Harvin, superintendent of the Kentucky Children's Home at Louisville was here on business yesterday.

Mrs. John Marvin of Vanceburg is visiting her sister, Mrs. William Gropenbacher of East Second street.

Miss Margaret D. McIntyre of Germantown is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. C. Bryant of Covington.

Mr. Oscar Grigsby and wife and Mr. E. G. Grigsby are visiting at Tollesboro.

DIETERICH BROS. NEW FLOWER AND SEED STORE.

A distinct addition and improvement to Maysville's commercial houses is the new seed and floral emporium of C. P. Dieterich & Bro., in the new Ringgold I. O. O. F. Temple in Market street. The Dieterichs are moving into their new location this week and while they are doing business, they have not gotten all their stock and fixtures in place. A visit to this floral depot, however, will convince you that it is the largest and handsomest store of the kind outside of the large cities.

They have two floors and both are fitted up. The two large V-shaped show cases. The two large V-shaped show windows are the features, and are the first of the kind in Maysville.

When the finishing touches are put on and the flowers, shrubbery and plants are in place and the lighting system installed, it is going to be one of the show places of Maysville, especially at night.

Mr. George Diener has purchased a lot on Forest avenue, near Poplar street, from Mr. James H. Hall, and will in the near future build a modern residence.

STATE MEETING

Of Methodist Missionaries Proving Its Great Work—Interest Continues and Meeting Will Close Tonight.

The Missionary meeting in session at the First M. E. church, South, Thursday morning session opened with President Mrs. Grubbs in the chair. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Cosgrove. Special prayer was made for Miss Lena Phillips, one of the conference officers, who was detained at home by illness.

Reports of districts were then taken up. The reports show that only 33 cents per church member is paid for the evangelization of the world, with 50,000,000 of non-Christian people in America. "The tenth is Mine, sayeth the Lord." What are the people doing with the Lord's money?

Miss Bell Bennett said only one-third of the women membership of the Southern Methodist church paid anything at all for missions. She also said the Epworth League was living at a dying rate.

The banner was awarded the Lexington district for having made the greatest advancements in the past year.

Miss Bennett conducted the noon-day Bible reading. The text was, "These things have I told you that ye might not stumble." She said with so many of us when we examine the temples of our own hearts, we find them filled with heathen gods. Christ's life was a surrendered life. He said, "I came to do the will of My Father." It is not sacrifice, it is not service, God asks of us, it is but our hearts. It is heroic to be a Christian. She spoke of how the young people are the hope of the future.

After the adjournment followed the noonday lunch, which is served each day to officers, delegates and out-of-town visitors.

In the afternoon Mrs. Clarkson of Covington gave an inspirational talk on missionary publicity. She said that there were no closed doors now that verily they had been lifted from their hinges, that the great need today is money and Christian workers to enter the doors. She also said that our ranks might be enlarged.

Dr. Fisher of Millersburg spoke just a few words of appreciation of what the Woman's Board of Missions are doing, and in the interest of the M. L. C. He then read a letter received by little Helen Yun of Korea from her second mother, telling her of the release from prison of her father, who was cast into prison three years ago, and for whose release nearly all this country have been praying. He uncomplainingly said some fruit was not good until it was bitten by the frost, and that he needed this lesson to make him the man God would have him be. Then the audience stood and sang "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow," which seemed to touch the heart of every one. The meeting adjourned for the afternoon.

Evening devotionals was conducted by Miss Maria Elliott, deaconess of Wesley House, Lexington, who gave very beautiful expressions of thought on Christian stewardship.

The quartette by Mr. Royce, Mr. Huff, Miss Hall and Miss Calvert, "Because He Loved Me So," was beautiful.

Dr. Guy Inman, missionary secretary of Latin America, was introduced and addressed the meeting, having traveled from Mexico through Korea, Chili, Argentina, Brazil, the Panama canal, and all that country. He said it is wonderful to see the improvements of architecture and art, but without Christ. He said half of Peru is larger than our original Thirteen Colonies, but that they are a thousand times worse off than they were a hundred years ago. They have no confidence in their fellowmen, none in the future, because they have not the Lord. Over in Bolivia there are not over 100 Protestants in all that nation. Chili is practically in heathen darkness, and has probably less religion than any other nation—one evangelical church to every 125,000 people. Will not all this and the troubles of Mexico because they have not known our Christ turn our eyes toward them. This board that Mr. Inman represents is planning to hold a missionary conference in Panama next February, where they are going to lay plans by which they may take Latin America for Christ.

Miss Bell Bennett has consented to accept the chairmanship of the Woman's Division of this great plan. He asked are these little pet opinions of ours worth more to us than Christ Jesus is to those people? They are our neighbors, our brothers. While some of them rival Paris in fashions of dress, but their great need is for the light of our Lord to be turned in on them.

Do they not need him with only one missionary preaching to one and a half millions of people?

GETTING READY TO BEGIN.

Lord Kitchener has announced that before March 15 one American and five English war correspondents will be permitted to join the headquarters staff of Field Marshal French in France, and that these correspondents will be given much wider latitude in reporting what is going on and what may go on than has been accorded any correspondents during the pendency of the war.

This relaxation of the iron-clad censorship that has up to this time covered the British operations in France and Belgium with an impenetrable mist, if carried out as planned, may be attributed to several reasons. In the first place, the anxiety of the British people to know what their army is doing on the continent is very keen. The requests for more information, both in Parliament and in the press, have been couched in moderate terms, but it has all along been admitted that a time must come when the country would have to be told exactly what the situation was, what had taken place and what were the plans for the future.

The secrecy that has prevailed in regard to the British operations upon the continent may, indeed, have been due to excellent reasons. It has been hinted that the opening of the war found the British government without the rifles, ammunition and heavy artillery necessary to equip a great army in the field. If this was indeed the case, Lord Kitchener has done well to keep his countrymen in ignorance, for the Germans have also been kept in ignorance. If it prove true that the newspaper correspondents are to be permitted to go to the front, it may be that the period of preparation with the British War Department has passed and that the army of that country is ready to begin an offensive campaign in earnest.—Louisville Post.

EARTHQUAKE INCIDENTS.

In Italy's recent earthquake the house in which a woman lived was thrown into a neighboring garden. The woman was wedged between a mass of debris and the limbs of an apple tree. Its fruit kept her alive until rescue came, furnishing both food and water.

Half a yard below the point where they took out the body of a young girl the diggers drew out a fragile wine glass intact.

One of the singular facts observed during the rescue work was that women and children lived longest under the ruins and able-bodied men succumbed soonest. Another strange feature was the large number of dogs that went mad after feeding upon human remains under the debris.—State Journal.

THREE-CORNER FIGHT AND HOTSKY.

McChesney's candidacy will precipitate one of the hottest fights which the Democratic party has witnessed in recent years.

The liquor interests will be aroused as they never have been aroused before and every possible resource will be used to defeat McChesney. In addition to this, the other candidates for Governor will make a concerted attack upon him as the "machine" candidate, representing the powerful Italy organization and backed by various interests with which Italy has been so friendly in the past.

GETTING TOGETHER.

The farmers on every telephone line ought to have a few banquets every winter and in summer-time picnics. The spirit of getting together socially and having a good time is commended to all.—Cedar Rapids Republican.

THAT TAFT REDIVIVUS.

William Howard Taft may not be any bigger or brainer a man now than he was a couple of years ago, but he is certainly more popular.—Perry Chief.

The "prominent civic reform workers" in New York and elsewhere who have organized to make easier the method of altering the constitution of the United States, have found a willing instrument for their purpose in Mr. Bryan, alleged Progressive, of Washington (who was not re-elected to the next Congress), who has introduced a resolution for a constitutional amendment which proposes that amendments to the Constitution may be ratified by a majority (instead of two-thirds) vote of both Houses of Congress, and by two-thirds (instead of three-fourths) of the states. This tinkering of the constitution should be checked. Let the constitution alone.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce says the opposition of the "insurgent" Democrats to the President's shipping bill, is based in no small part on opposition to government ownership. This is a reasonable view, as the primary purpose of the ship purchase measure was to aid the southern cotton growers and increase the price of cotton, and four of the seven Senators who were in revolt are from the cotton states. As the bill was defeated by their aid, it means that the administration will not be able to persuade Congress to tackle another measure that even smacks of government ownership.

The San Francisco Chronicle facetiously remarks of the defeat of the radical constitutional amendments in Wisconsin: "The people of Wisconsin, having endured with mild disapproval about 14 years of continuous uplift, including Senator La Follette, finally got mad, and when ten constitutional amendments were offered to be taken at one gulp, the apostles of wrath rose in their might and smote the children of light, hip and thigh. The average vote on the ten amendments was: Progressive 70,457 and reactionaries 154,864."

Contrary to the prevailing belief that this year's output of beet sugar in Belgium would be negligible, a correspondent of the London Times reports that nearly all of the Belgian factories are at work, including those at Wanze and Huy, between Liege and Namur, and at Tirlemont. The manufacturers, says this correspondent, have no expectation of making any profits, but they are doing a great work in that they are saving $60,000,000 worth of beets and are providing employment and a livelihood for their hands.

Chairman Tawney and Central.

When James A. Tawney of Minnesota was chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House he was keenly alert in handing out Federal jobs to his loyal supporters at home.

One day Tawney learned that a political enemy was in town and on his way to the White House to grab a particularly desirable plum from the patronage tree.

Tawney hurried to the telephone and called for "Main 6," the White House number. He was connected with a downtown hotel.

"Give me Main 6!" yelled Tawney at the telephone girl.

Again the wrong connection was given him.

"Central," said Tawney, "listen carefully. I want my number in a hurry. Since you can't get it for me, let me talk to some one my equal in intelligence."

There was a pause, and then Central said:

"There's your party—go ahead."

"Hello!" came over the wire.

"Who's this?" demanded Tawney.

"St. Elizabeth's Insane Asylum," was the response.

Profiting By Her Experience.

A colored woman, Liza by name, who had but recently lost her husband in a railroad accident, received as remuneration from the railroad company the sum of $200. Liza greatly bemoaned the loss of her husband and was deeply distressed.

On meeting a friend she was asked: "Liza, is you thinkin' 'bout gettin' married again soon?"

"Well," said Liza, "I ain't quite decided yet; I is sorter lookin' 'round, but if I does, I sure is goin' to marry another railroad man."—N. & W. Safety-First Bulletin.

Just Jokes

Unusual Case.

"Remarkable, isn't it? Three thousand miles across the continent the President pushes a button and the exposition starts."

"This time it is doubly remarkable. Usually the President pushes a button and the exposition starts about a month later."

Enough is Sufficient.

"Now I want this and I expect that, likewise so and so," declared the cook.

"That will do for you," said the lady of the house. "You act like a foreign nation ordering around the 'United States.'"

Very Strange.

"Strange as to these symptoms of bubonic plague I've been reading about. Very strange."

"What is so strange about these symptoms?"

"I don't seem to have 'em."

Just the Man.

"Everything has its uses."

"How now?"

"Even the statesman who talks without saying anything comes in all right for a filibuster."

Durable and Resilient.

"Ever notice those long leaves of rye bread?"

"Of course."

"Wonder if they have ever tried them out as railroad ties?"

Out Fishing.

"Feels like something taking hold of my line with a pair of pinchers!"

"Sh— maybe you've got a nibble from a submarine."

WILSON'S TWO YEARS.

President Wilson has reached the half-way point in his term as President of the United States with several triumphs and with a number of poignant disappointments. Until the patronage had been thoroughly exhausted the Chief Executive of the nation was particularly successful in bringing the usually warring elements of the Democratic party into harmonious action. Under those conditions the first year of Mr. Wilson in the presidential chair caused many Americans to believe that the impossible had come to pass—that a triumphant Democracy had reached the point of coherent and efficient unity.

The second year began badly. The effects of the Underwood bill, driven through Congress largely through the personal efforts of the President, began to be felt throughout the country. Hundreds of thousands of workmen found themselves without employment, and business reached new levels of depression. The Mexican fiasco, his attitude on the immigration bill and several important appointments of this era showed that the Chief Executive was out of touch with the real sentiment of the country.

Then came his stubbornly determined effort to put through a ship purchase bill. This plan would have been successful but for the fact that a number of Democratic Senators put patriotism above partisanship, and refused to invite foreign complications along that line.

The President still has two years of service. Even the bitterest partisan in the Republican fold will hope that those years of service will bring prosperity to the people of the United States. But is there anything in the records of the years intervening between the Civil war and 1915 to justify such a hope?—Commercial Tribune.

HILARY A. HERBERT'S BIRTHDAY

Washington, March 12.—Hilary A. Herbert, who was Secretary of the Navy under President Cleveland, received congratulations from a wide circle of friends today on the occasion of his eighty-first birthday anniversary.

For a man of his years, Mr. Herbert is unusually active and vigorous. At the time of his appointment to the cabinet he was a resident of Alabama and had long been a Representative in Congress from that state. Since his retirement from public life in 1897, Mr. Herbert has been engaged in the practice of law in this city.

COLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Maysville People Have Found This to Be True.

Are you wretched in bad weather? Does every cold settle on your kidneys?

Does your back ache and become weak?

Are urinary passages irregular and distressing?

These symptoms are cause to suspect kidney weakness.

Weakened kidneys need quick help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for weakened kidneys.

Grateful people recommend them.

A. Sorries, locksmith, Aberdeen, O., says: "The action of my kidneys was irregular and the kidney secretions contained sediment. I had backache and when stooping, it was hard for me to straighten. Colds always settled on my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they stopped the trouble and my kidneys became strong."

The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Sorries is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Sorries had. 50c all stores. VEILED IN MYSTERY

No Cause Known For Suicide of Young Richard Stivers On Ripley Ferryboat.

The following is taken from the Dover News:

People at Ripley were shocked to learn of the suicide of young Richard Stivers, son of Mr. F. A. Stivers, cashier of the Citizens National bank, and a member of one of the wealthiest families in Brown county.

Young Stivers had been away attending Yale College and his parents had no intimation of his coming home.

He came down from Maysville on No. 7, Monday afternoon. As the Ripley ferryboat crossed the river he handed his satchels to a colored man to carry up the bank. He then went to a closet back of the cabin and came to the cabin door to hand Captain Corben his fare, returning to the rear of the boat.

A shot was heard, which was thought to be a noise made by some accident to the machinery of the boat. The captain and the passengers had started up the bank. Sam Gillespie, employed on the boat, started to investigate the noise and found the body of young Stivers lying on the deck just outside the cabin door. He had shot himself through the heart, dying instantly. The wound made did not bleed at all. He had evidently pulled the trigger twice, as one cartridge in the pistol showed marks of the hammer.

He was in sight of his home on Front street. His father and mother were in a buggy in front of Kirker & Wiles' store, having been driving about town. They saw people running about excitedly, and the doctor on his way to the boat passed them, but no one had the heart to tell them that their son was dead on the ferryboat.

No cause for the act is known. Telegrams were sent to Yale and his associates there, but the replies shed no light on the subject, as none could give any reason there why he should commit such a deed.

Why he came home and why he killed himself in sight of home remains a mystery. His father is one of the wealthiest citizens of Brown county, and recently gave his son a $10,000 farm, which the young man expected to take charge of upon his graduation from Yale.

This world must have looked gloomy indeed to the young man, with prospects of wealth and honor before him to cause him to end his life. He had studied hard in Yale for some years, and had probably overtaxed his brain.

He was 22 years old and would have graduated this year.

HEMP INDUSTRY

Receives Impetus In Bourbon County—Big Crop Is In Prospect.

Paris, Ky.—Encouraged by the high price of hemp and discouraged by the low price of tobacco, the former which may be said to have been its predecessor as the leading farm product of Bourbon county, seems to have a tendency to again rival in a larger degree the tobacco crop. The hemp industry in the county has received a decided impetus in the last year, and almost every large farmer in the county has a large flock on his place. The price of wool is soaring high, and it looks as if the demand for lambs for June and July delivery will bring eight and possibly nine cents per pound.

NOT DILIGENT IN TRAPPING BLIND TIGERS, IS CHARGE.

Manchester, O.—At a special meeting of council the bondsmen of Marshal James Bradford appeared before the mayor with the marshal and asked to be released from his bond.

Bradford was elected in 1913 in a three-cornered fight by a majority of five votes. He will attempt to give a surety bond. Bradford has been a prudent officer, but he is charged with being indifferent in trapping bootleggers.

Charges will be preferred against him at once. Ex-Prosecutor Shively has been retained to defend Bradford.

PUSHED OFF TRAIN AND KILLED

Norman Gullett, aged 24 years, of Princess, was run over by a C. & O. freight train Tuesday night near his home and was so seriously injured that he died a few minutes after.

According to a statement Gullett made before his death, when the train was between Mendo station and the watering tank, a stranger to him who was also riding on the train, asked Gullett to hold the lantern so he could see how to get off, and that as he stooped over to do so, the stranger gave him a shove, which caused him to fall beneath the train.

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGDON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—MRS. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Me.

2. SHELBYVILLE, KY.—"I suffered from a severe female trouble. My right side hurt me badly—it was finally decided that I must be operated upon. When my husband learned this he got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking it a few days I got better and continued to improve until I am now well."—MRS. MOLLIE SMITH, R.F.D., Shelbyville, Ky.

3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—MRS. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—MRS. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2437 East William Street, Decatur, Ill.

5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—MRS. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, O.

FARM AND STOCK NOTES.

J. Miller Ward of near Paris sold recently to Daniel Scott of Fayette, 550 head of lambs at a private price.

McConaughy & Son of Bourbon, sold last week to Reynolds Letton, of near Black's Crossroads, a team of extra good, 5-year-old mare mules for $400.

The Standard Oil Company recently bought 28 mules for use in eastern cities. The load averaged a trifle over 16 hands and 1,450 pounds in weight, and were purchased in Missouri and neighboring states around $250 per head.

Nearly 450 horses arrived for the regular weekly auction at the Indianapolis horse market last week. There was a continued good demand for horses suitable for army purposes at $175 down, and several loads of commercial classes sold at a spread of $125 to $225.

A lamb weighing 17 pounds at birth was born to a full-blooded Southdown ewe at W. H. Johnstone's farm in Pendleton county, Kentucky, last week. Old farmers claim this is the largest lamb they ever heard of at birth. The lamb only lived a short time, and its mother died the next day.

THE ANNUAL WAIL FROM THE RED'S TRENCHES.

(W. A. Phelon.)

Alexandria, La., March 10.—For four days there has not been even one moment of sun. I have been with clubs in camp for 25 years, and have never seen the like of this. The weather prophets extended some little hope of sunshine for Wednesday, but Herzog refused to believe it. "I am firmly convinced," he said, "that the sun has jumped its contract and won't be seen again unless Judge Landis's decision brings it out."

Still, the prospects this morning are for a bright but cold day.

The native population, of course, continue to pull the old alibi stuff about, "we never, never had this kind of weather before."

"One mighty good thing," remarked Herzog, trying to extract some consolation from the lead gray sky, "this is much the sort of weather we'll probably get at home when the season starts and so we'll be used to it."

GRAND PRIZE

In Kentucky Illiteracy Contest Goes To Mrs. W. L. Russell of Adair County—Gets $50 In Gold.

Frankfort, Ky., March 10.—Adair county took the grand prize in the moonlight school contest, when the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission this afternoon awarded to Mrs. W. L. Russell the $50 in gold offered by United States Senator Ollie M. James for the teacher making the best record in moonlight school work.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the commission, said the contest was close for first prize as well as the others, but Mrs. Russell, after all the reports were analyzed, was deemed entitled to it. She had an average attendance of 63, enrolled 26 illiterates and taught 20.

The prize of $50 offered by former Senator J. N. Camden for the school trustee doing the most to promote moonlight schools was divided between two men, each of whom is 70 years old, the Rev. J. A. Fryear of the Richardson district, Hardin county, and W. P. Johnson of the Barren Creek district, McCreary county. Mr. Fryear and his wife solicited pupils for the schools and they served meals for the workers. Mr. Johnson taught a school, besides soliciting, and he climbed a cliff every night to reach the school house.

Honors of Congressmen.

The Graham school, Muhlenberg county, taught by J. C. Kennerly, was awarded the Third Congressional district prize of $50 offered by Congressman R. Y. Thomas, Jr.

Dudley Caudell of Powell county, was given the prize of $25 offered by Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill for the teacher conducting the best moonlight school in the Seventh district.

Virgil Jones of Bath county, was awarded the prize of $25 offered by Congressman W. J. Fields for the best moonlight school in the Ninth district.

W. R. Thomas of Floyd county, was awarded the prize of $25 offered by Congressman John Langley for the best moonlight school in the Tenth district.

Mrs. W. L. Russell, besides getting the grand prize, was awarded the prize of $10 offered by Attorney General James Garnett for the best moonlight school in Adair county.

Miss Mary Dawson won the Bullitt county prize of $10 offered by State Senator J. R. Zimmerman.

A. K. Witten won the Grayson county prize of $10 offered by the Bank of Clarkson.

Champ Clark Prize.

The Champ Clark prize of $5 offered by the Speaker of the House for the best moonlight school in his native county of Anderson was awarded to the Goodlet school teachers, Ollie Leathers, Stettin Stratton and Thomas Stratton.

The first prize of $15 for the best moonlight school story, offered by the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission went to Laura Smythe, of Adair county; the second prize, $10, went to Maude Bishop of McCreary county, and the third prize, $5, went to Lottie Richards of Rowan county.

The Commission today decided to secure through the trustees an accurate census of illiterates in the state. The scholastic census will be taken in April and the county superintendents have agreed to the plan of the commission.

MANY ATTEND BIRTH OF FILM CITY.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 12.—Universal City, the most unique, the most attractive and at the same time the "craziest" city on earth, according to announcement of its projectors, was given birth, christened and officially placed on the map this week. Dozens of well known writers, artists, stage folk and other celebrities were on hand to see that the birth of the new city was conducted properly and to enjoy the week of festivities arranged in honor of the occasion.

Universal City is located 10 miles south of Los Angeles. It has been built by one of the big film corporations and will exist for the sole purpose of furnishing comics and thrillers for the enjoyment of the legions of "movie" fans throughout the country. Motion picture players are to comprise the entire population. The mayor and police chief, the shopkeepers and shoppers, the members of the fire department, the village belle and the village blacksmith, even the dogs that run about the streets—all are "movie" actors whose features are familiar to tens of thousands of men, women and children throughout the land.

President Wilson named Rear Admirals Fletcher, Howard and Cowles as Admirals, under the provisions of an act that passed the last session of Congress.

A gain of $62,000,000 over the same month of 1915 was shown in the exports of manufactures in January of this year.

"THE NEED OF SALVATION"

Evangelist Jones Elucidates Text And Thrills His Hearers At First Baptist Church Revival.

Last night Evangelist Jones delivered his message, "The Need of Salvation," in a wonderful way, proving to his large audience that he possessed a mind of uncommon clearness and strength. No one can listen to his earnest plea for souls without saying, "Truly, this man is a child of God."

He read for his text, "As Moses lifted up the servant in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth on Him shall have everlasting life." He said he had a right as a minister of the gospel, to bring out of the Divine treasury the pearls of evangelical truth. Nicodemus came to Jesus Christ by night and asked Him what he must do to inherit eternal life, and the Christ says: "Ye must throw off the old life, and put on the new. Nicodemus had the idea when born of woman, that he was born in the Jewish kingdom of heaven. But it is not only necessary to be born heir and of water and of the flesh. You must be born a spiritual birth. We need a spiritual life, and we can not receive it except by a resurrection, a new birth or a new creation. Listen to the voice of Christ talking to the Jewish Sanhedrin. Think of the Israelites in the wilderness. Hear their complaint against God because they had no water to drink and catch a vision of their last condition, when they realized they had sinned against God. The serpent in the wilderness represented Satan in all his meanness; while the brazen serpent was the image representing Love. The sad thing was the Israelites by trying to save themselves by works plus Christ, were lost. God is doing everything He possibly can to save the world, and He hates the thing that damns human souls.

As the brazen serpent lifted up in the wilderness, when viewed by the wounded Israelites, was the only means by which the poison of the fiery serpents could be expelled, and health restored to their tortured, dying bodies. So, Jesus lifted up on the Cross, when beheld by the eye of faith as bleeding and dying in our stead, is the only way by which sin, the sting of death, can be extracted out of our guilty, perishing souls; the only antidote that can restore us to saving health and eternal life. Apply whatever we will, beside this sovereign remedy, we may poison, but can never heal the envenomed and mortal wound.

But remember, sinner, that faith alone can make the blessed application. The serpent appeared to Eve in the garden of Eden, and she fell by rejecting in unbelief the word of threatening and thou canst never rise but by receiving in faith "the word of reconciliation." Instead, then of confusing thy thoughts, and scattering thy desires by the pursuit of the same serpent in Israel; remember that one thing is needful for thee Christ and His salvation, received by faith. For as many as receive Him, He gives power to become the sons of God," even to them that believe on His name.

The evangelist closed his message with a heart-rending appeal, as he pictured the Christ, from the dust of the grave, and the sorrows of hell to the joys of heaven, and the highest throne of glory. Christ's perfect obedience is our first title to glory; His grave the gate of heaven; His resurrection the pledge of honor; His ascension the triumph of our souls.

These meetings will continue the remainder of the week. Plans are being made for a record crowd at the Sunday services. Let all Christian people endeavor to work for the close of a successful revival meeting.

The subject for tonight is "Jesus, the Sinner's Substitute." Song service begins at 7:15 and preaching at 7:30.

THE MASTER KEY! MUSIC A GREAT FEATURE AT BAPTIST REVIVAL

Mr. David M. Hughes, the chorus director of the big Maysville revival now in progress at the Baptist church in Market street, has won the ear and heart and praise of all who have heard him. And right well does he deserve the merited approbation so freely given him. He is patient, kind, persuasive, winsome. His own singing is sweet in expression, ringing in tone, distinct in enunciation, with a marvelous soul-reaching voice that holds his listeners and impresses them that he is not only himself in touch with God, but that his pre-eminent desire is to sing the Christ message into their hearts. The revival will close with the coming Sunday night service and the public may rest assured that the singing will be the best of the great meeting.

Prof. Hughes is now busy training his singers for Sunday afternoon and night. The singers of all denominations in our city are enlisted. Prof. Hughes has the splendid co-work of one of the best organists and pianists in the state, Miss Stella Archibald, who will use the big pipe organ both Sunday afternoon and evening.

Sunday afternoon the male quartette will sing "Drifting Down." The ladies' chorus will give "Whispers of Peace;" the mixed quartette will sing "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee;" the entire chorus will render a special anthem and Mrs. H. C. Barnes will sing the solo, "Saved By Grace."

Sunday night the male quartette will sing "Crossing the Bar;" Prof. Hughes and Miss Sallie Milton Hall will give the duet, "Blessed Eternity;" the choir will render two of Gounod's anthems, viz: "Unfold Ye Portals" and "Gloria;" Miss Maude Rains will sing a solo, "I Do Not Ask," by Sprowles. Packed houses should hear this music at each service Sunday. Prof. Hughes will sing at each service.
